FICTION

WARD, FLORENCE

Spread Circles. When Stephen Janney, young, romantic, married Elena Quevedo the stone was cast into the pool of life and the circles began. Spanish and Anglo-Saxon blood formed the character of Stephen's children, of lovely Felice, Stephen's daughter who disregarded tradition and convention to follow the man she loved, and transmitted the heritage of passion, beauty and an incorruptible integrity to her daughter, Megan. Thrown into the keeping of Stephen Janney, now an old man with a fierce direct vision of life, the latent tradition of Megan's character crystallized under his guidance. Deceived by people whom she believed in, Megan, nevertheless, struggled through a turbulent existence and maintained her belief in the man she loved. The circles spread, carrying beauty as well as despair, sweeping Megan through a world that seems to her brutal and rapacious, and into an ultimate happiness. 12mo. Jacket in color. $2.00

The Flame of Happiness. An appealing American girl who is early thrown on her own resources at boarding school and college in the Middle West. $2.00

The Singing Heart. The story of a girl who goes forth to "live life" and what she finds. $2.00

VON ZIEKURSCH, THEODORE

Where the Waters Turn. Thor Patterson is some thing new in northern fiction. Here is a dif ferent kind of strength, the power and tenacit of Nature herself bred into the fibre of a mar He has nothing, is nothing; but little remove from the feathered and furred things amon which he has learned to live. The lonely moun tains, the vast, still forests have nurtured an formed him. Something of the arrogance o self-sufficient Nature, the swift passions of th storm are a part of him. The crudeness o unsculptured rock is his. And then inspiratio that comes to him through a woman is the carvin tool which models a superb man, literally b mental and physical travail, and carries hir through a heroic struggle in which his nativ strength could not avail. It is an epic of th creation of highly developed man from the primi tive. 12mo. Jacket in color by Nat Little. $2.0

White Trail's End. The story of a man, a girl, and a dog; and a remarkabl picture of the north forests. $2.0

ROCKEY, HOWARD

The Test. A glittering story of Philadelphia Society, of the New York younger set, and of romance in South American climes. A man and a girl, both members of an exclusive social circle, on the morning after their wedding find themselves penniless. In their determination to make good each chooses a distinctive path of endeavor. It seems as though they both must fail. The girl goes to New York and her husband to South America. His life becomes an adventure amid the intrigue of a small republic and the attraction of Dolores, Spanish dancer. Life leads the young wife into the whirl of New York; into the smart Bohemian set where a woman's reputation is sacrificed to an epigram; and amid the theatrical world of Broadway. The latent strength and finesse of character in each is provcd on these two different testing grounds. Jacket in color. 12mo. $2.00

Limelight. A modern romance that moves with thrilling swiftness before an behind the curtain of the operatic stage. It tells a startling story; of a talente young American girl and her struggle to gain the limelight. Involved in mesh of backstage plots, of temperamental jealousies and conflicting loves Lois Joyce doubts if the glamor is worth the sacrifice. The former diva wh sponsors her has the temper of a dragon and a heart as great as her wealth Her tantrums, her quaint humor—her refusal to grow old—complicate th problem of her protegé. Vastly contrasting characters are mingled in th action. Musicians, singers, critics; figures of the underworld, and the sociall elite, pass through the glare of the limelight or lurk in the shadows beyond 12mo. Jacket in color. $2.0

Paradox. A modern love story with an unusual problem. $2.0

ARMSTRONG, ANTHONY

*The Trail of Fear. The game was up. Jimmie Rezaire knew it, but he was sure that his carefully laid plans would enable him to escape. His pals must shift for themselves, even Viv, much as he hated to leave her. Then the unforeseen delay occurred. A lost minute, but that put disaster only a step from him. For twenty-four desperate hours Jimmie evaded pursuit. Every minute brought its entanglement, and every delay was caused by his inability to desert Viv, and the presence of Sam, whose philosophy was one of brute force. This is a detective story for the real fan. The reader shares the mental stimulation of evading the traps and pitfalls, and the compassion that Jimmie feels for the helpless girl. 12mo. They see the Ant armies, the Ant schools, and the cows that furnish milk; as well as the elaborate and complete underground cities of the Ant. Jacket in color. THE REVENGE OF FANTOMAS

A new "Fantomas" novel is an exceedingly welcome relief from the familiar brands of fiction. The most blasé reader of detective stories, steeped in the annals of Arsene Lupin, and of the criminal big-game that fell in turn to those marvellous sportsmen, M. Lecoq and Sherlock Holmes, will always find something unexpected in the audacities of the Lord of Terror. And anyone who wants a tale that will thrill him and keep him in a constant state of suspense until the very end can hardly do better than read "The Revenge of Fantomas." A pirate yacht commanded by Fantomas and manned by his accomplices, a transatlantic liner scuttled on the high seas, her passengers marooned in open boats, Fandor rescued in the nick of time by his fiancee, the arch-criminal's daughter, all figure as episodes in the terrific melodrama.

It is the thriller par excellence, and Fantomas, the modern Mephistopheles, has never blazed a more Hellish trail or been pursued with such remorseless courage and ingenuity.

BECK, HERBERT M. Chief of Naturalization, Camden County Courts, Camden, N. J. Aliens' Text Book on Citizenship. In preparing this book the aim has been to provide means of thoroughly and quickly acquiring the knowledge necessary to pass the examinations for Naturalization and to assist those who have been deprived of the advantages of our modern Public Schools. As the book is intended for easy reading and not for hard study, unnecessary verbiage has been avoided. During many years' experience in Naturalization work, Mr. Beck has been convinced that the prospective Citizen can be chiefly aided by the proper manner of selecting and arranging questions and answers, thereby enabling him to learn the principles of our Government the more quickly. This little book is published in the hope that it will do just that.

BURROW'S HANDY GUIDE TO EUROPE. Twenty-nine Maps and Plans. This book justifies its title by covering the whole of Europe and not merely a few countries which happen to be the more obvious and popular touring grounds. Every effort has been made not only to make the Guide as comprehensive as possible within the limitations of space imposed by a book which must necessarily be of handy pocket size, but also to ensure that it shall be as accurate and up-to-date as possible. It incorporates the effect of recent changes which throw many older guides hopelessly out of date on matters of importance to tourists. The inclusion of a large number of clear maps, not overloaded with small detail, but showing the places of primary interest to travelers, repairs a serious practical omission of which users of some older publications have been keenly conscious, while the equally clear street plans of London, Paris, Rome and Milan—cities of supreme tourist interest—are worth many pages of verbal directions as to how to find this or that place. 410 pages.....net, $3 50

LEADING FEATURES, AND OPINIONS CONCERNING THEM.

PRONUNCIATION OF PROPER NAMES.—All proper names are printed in black type, syllabified and accentuated. The editor in his preface says: "To know one you must know his name, especially in Mythology, where names constitute being."

"After years of experience I appreciate the value of the pronunciation of proper names in the body of the text. The time for the study is limited; it is impossible to require incessant use of dictionary. . . . I believe you have done much to secure correct spelling. . . . The illustrations in your edition are a valuable feature.

"The recognition of the mythology of Babylon, Assyria, and Phœnicia I consider timely."—Mary L. Hanna, Teacher of English, Central High School, Cleveland, Ohio.

BULFINCH'S AGE OF CHIVALRY, or KING ARTHUR AND HIS KNIGHTS. New Revised Edition by Rev. J. Loughran Scott. This New Edition, uniform with "The Age of Fable," has been thoroughly revised and a number of new chapters added. The numerous illustrations have been prepared with great care and considerable expense. As "The Age of Fable" superseded all former editions of that book, so this edition of "The Age of Chivalry" is far superior to any other work on the subject yet published.

Crown octavo, ... net 2 00

"No one can read this edition of 'The Age of Chivalry' without coming in contact with the best literature of the Arthurian Legends. While retaining the old, at the same time we have created a new work. The interest of these legends naturally centers about King Arthur and Queen Guinevere. In the case of Guinevere we have added a new section, and also enlarged the chapter that treats of Arthur and the passing of his kingdom. The names ranking next in interest are those of Launcelot and Elaine; here, too, we have written an additional section. At the close of the first part we have inserted a chapter on Mediæval Legends. St. George and Robin Hood attach to an importance scarcely surpassed by King Arthur himself. We have also drawn directly from Sir Thomas Mallory, especially in connection with the adventures of Sir Tor, Sir Pellenore, Sir Gawain, Sir Launcelot, and Sir Galahad."

"A Third Part with seven additional chapters has been added, consisting largely of the writings of Ossian. Whatever may have been the origin of those strange books, they certainly embody more of the ancient spirit of Britain than any other similar work."

CHESS SACRIFICES AND TRAPS. By Alfred Emery. (With a note on the "New Ideas.") 12mo, cloth binding . . . . . net, 1 25

The first part of the work consists of a selection of traps from the Openings. As the author remarks in his preface, a number of well-known typical snares could not possibly be omitted, for, if as ancient, almost, as the game itself, they still trouble afresh each new generation of learners. As much new matter has been introduced, however, as was reasonably practicable.

In the second part of the book Middle Game sacrifices are illustrated from the splendid combinative play of Alekhine, Reti, Bogoljubow and other modern Masters, admittedly unequalled in this phase of Chess.

The third part of the book consists of Endings, in which also the idea of sacrifice predominates.

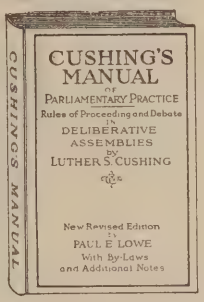
CUSHING'S MANUAL OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE

Prominent among the new features presented in the revision of Cushing's Manual is a model form for the drafting of CONSTITUTIONS and BY-LAWS, which, with slight and appropriate modifications, may be made to apply to any character of deliberative body; and also an EXEMPLAR demonstrating the correct proceedings of a meeting in active operation.

Revised by PAUL E. LOWE



This standard manual, just revised, amplified and brought up to date, is preëminently the most complete, highly instructive, and thoroughly reliable guide, now available to the practical application of PARLIAMENTARY LAW, and for the orderly regulation of the proceedings in all legislative assemblies, meetings of societies, associations, corporation directories, clubs, and organizations of every character.

For the vast number of deliberative organizations already in existence in every state, county, large and small municipalities, and urban communities; as well as for the guidance of groups of American citizens, wherever located, who may have in contemplation the creation of organizations for the promotion of any object or cause whatsoever, the possession of a copy of this incomparable authority on every fundamental feature and essential detail of Parliamentary Practice, is of the most vital importance; and this is particularly true as referred to such members of organizations who are elected or appointed to act in official capacities. DAWSON, MARY. The Mary Dawson Game Book. In planning the home entertainments, which have become in this country such a delightful part of the social life of every community, there is nothing in which the hostess stands more frequently in need than good original games. The games of to-day are as diversified as those who assemble at parties, and this book covers every occasion. For the young, runabout games; for the sedate, question games and guessing contests; for boys and girls who will follow a college course in the near future, games with a college flavor; for tiny tots, games so simple that even a three-year-old can grasp them.

In this book practically all the pastimes and contests described are original inventions of the author. A few good old games which seem to have been forgotten in our day and generation, have been revived and included, being too good to be allowed to sink into oblivion. Large 12mo, cloth, 825 pages . . Net, $2 00

DAWSON, MARY. Money-Making Entertainments for Church and Charity. Some of the noblest works of church and charity are maintained by men and women who are not of the moneyed class. Energy and devotion are their offering to the cause, and these most frequently take the form of arranging entertainments to draw in sums large or small. For all such affairs an original idea is essential and those who fail do so for lack of a novel plan. 305 pages, 12mo, cloth, . . . Net, 1 25

DAWSON, MARY, and EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD. The Book of Entertainments and Frolics for All Occasions. In giving a part on a holiday or special occasion, the difficulty of the hostess lies in the selection of an appropriate entertainment. This book solves the problem.

Hence a little book like this is indispensable. Faulty Diction—or, Errors in the Use of the English Language, and How to Correct Them. (Vest-Pocket Size.) Thomas H. Russell, LL. B., editor-in-chief of Webster's Imperial Dictionary, did the public a great service when he wrote this book in which there are 1017 headings treated, and under some of them—plurals for instance—over fifty every-day errors are illustrated and corrected.

Who does not make errors in speech? Probably there is no person who does not do so occasionally. To use the English language with correctness would be a phenomenon. But there are numerous faulty expressions so widely employed as to have secured something of the status of perfect diction. Many people who ought to know better believe them to be proper, and will defend them with promptitude and even passion. There is a large number of common blunders so grotesquely stupid that they raise one's gorge. They are so common that many people think the improper form the correct one.

Ogilvie's Concise World's Atlas and Gazetteer. Based Upon the Latest Census Reports and Official Estimates.

By L. Brent Vaughan, Ph.B. The plan on which this Gazetteer is arranged is somewhat different from that usually followed. A word of explanation, however, will suffice to point out the superior method used. In the main the arrangement is alphabetic. Under the leading Political Divisions are grouped the principal facts pertaining to those divisions. For example, under France are included all the departments and the principal cities of the French Republic, with their populations according to the latest census. Likewise all mountain ranges in the world are grouped under Mountain Ranges, the rivers under Rivers, lakes under Lakes, oceans under Oceans, capes under Capes, straits, channels and sounds under Straits. This is the only gazetteer published so arranged.

The Jefferson Bible. By Thomas Jefferson. The third president of the United States, by clipping from the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, compiled a connected narrative, which he entitled, The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth. The compilation begins with the first verse of the second chapter of Luke and ends with the last portion of the sixtieth verse of the twenty-seventh chapter of Matthew. In the compilation he made use of 120 different clippings, changing from one of the Gospels to another, and frequently back again to the same chapter for another verse; in some instances taking a considerable portion of a chapter exactly as it appears in the Bible, in others rearranging the verses as best suited his purpose, and in still others using a few verses or only a small part of a given verse to round out some portion of the narrative.

DUMAS, ALEXANDRE. A LIFE'S AMBITION: Being the Adventures and Tribulations of an Actor. Author of "Love and Liberty," "The Prussian Terror," "The Neapolitan Lovers," etc. With an introduction by R. S. Garnett. 12mo, cloth . . . . . net $2 00

For the first time this remarkable story appears in English, and the circumstances surrounding its authorship are particularly interesting. One day Dumas asked a friend into his room and invited him to relate the story of his life. "But there is no story to tell," objected the friend. "That will be for me to judge," said Dumas. What he heard was so interesting that the next day he published the first chapter of M. Gustave's life in the pages of his newspaper Le Mousquetaire. Dumas declared that he meant to devote four or five chapters only to his friend, but his readers became so greatly interested that he ended by giving them a volume. To all lovers of Dumas, "A Life's Ambition" will prove a real feast. Especially as it ends with a marvellous account of his own experiences as a dramatist.

A prominent U. S. Congressman recently consulted a leading specialist—professor in the Medical College of Johns Hopkins University—and after being charged $50.00 for a diagnosis, was told to "Buy a copy of Lieut. Müller's Book 'MY SYSTEM,' follow his directions and take no medicine." The congressman afterwards stated that the prescription was worth many times the cost. This story is vouched for by the Hon. A. W. Lafferty.

MY SYSTEM: Fifteen Minutes a Day for Health's Sake.

By Lieut. J. P. Müller. With 44 illustrations and a Time Chart. This book embodies what is stated to be the most adaptable and most scientific system of Home Exercise known. It is graded so as to make it of service to young people, elderly people, and to people not physically fit. It can be performed in whichever degree is chosen in 15 minutes, and this time includes the taking of a bath. No apparatus of any kind is required. "My System" is divided into two parts—eight exercises before the bath and ten rubbing exercises after. The system is primarily intended for people who desire to obtain and retain good health. The whole of the movements are designed to strengthen the internal organs of the body. 8vo, cloth, ... net, $1 25

MY SYSTEM FOR LADIES. Lieut. Müller has adapted his System of Exercise to the special requirements of ladies—both young and old. The exercises are of extreme value in enabling young women to preserve and older women to regain suppleness, shapeliness, energy and health.

Seek health aright and you will attain beauty. No woman is unbeautiful if really healthy, and therefore every woman can enhance her beauty by improving her health—at a cost of only a few minutes' daily practice of "My System."

MY SYSTEM FOR CHILDREN is an adaptation of Lieut. Müller's famous System to the needs of children. It is similar to his other books in the sense that it is entirely free from crankiness, or impossible and extreme measures. It is a book which will be appreciated by every parent who wishes his or her children to grow up to strength and vitality, and to possess adequate powers of resistance to illness and fatigue, and like Lieut. Müller's System for men and women it is carefully and scientifically graded so as not to overtax or strain the muscles of the child. Also, as in the case of his other books, the author has based his System not on theory only, but on the results of actual experience.

MY BREATHING SYSTEM. Everybody knows that without air we should be unable to exist more than a few minutes, but that it is possible to exist for at least a week without water, while people have fasted from food for from 40 to 70 days and even longer. Air is nutriment, therefore, of even more importance than liquid and solid foods.

Followers of "My System" will know what importance Lieut. Müller has always attached to correct breathing. It is to the practically universal neglect of the Art of Breathing that the author attributes the prevalence of many diseases, especially those which attack the Lungs. Thorax, Heart and the Blood.

"Teach children to breathe properly," says Lieut. Müller, "and the spread of the Great White Scourge would be appreciably diminished." The best curative measure for Anemia, Chlorosis, Gout, Diabetes and other diseases of Metabolism is, he maintains, the regular practice of deep breathing exercises.

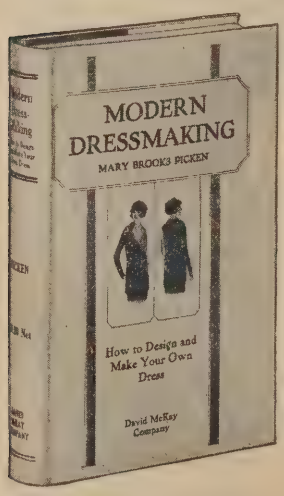
PICKEN, MARY BROOKS. The Secrets of Distinctive Dress. Director of Instruction, Woman's Inst. of Dom. Arts and Sciences. 8vo, cloth, net, 2 00

It is natural and proper that you should want always to look your best—to appear attractive in your own home, among friends, in social and in business life. To do this you should have clothes distinctively becoming, clothes that appropriately frame your beauty, clothes that accentuate your charm, clothes that overcome any plainness or little defect of feature or figure—in brief, clothes that express your own individuality and invariably convey the impression of having been designed, planned, and made just for you. "The Secrets of Distinctive Dress" helps you first of all to understand yourself, to know your type. Then it tells you what lines to follow, what colors to use, what materials to choose so as to dress your type with distinction. It teaches you how to design, plan, and select garments that are in every sense an expression of your individuality.



PICKEN, MARY BROOKS. Modern Dressmaking. How to Design and Make Your Own Dress.

CONTENTS: Tissue-Paper Patterns; Dress Development; Designing With Foundation Patterns; Cutting and Fitting; Dress Construction and Finishing Dresses; Ribbon Trimmings and Flowers. Fully Illustrated, 496 pages, 8vo, cloth. . . . . net 3 00

Garment making, like bread making, originated in the home and later became a definite and prominent part of trade work, but, like bread making, will always remain as a desirable part of home work and of individual shop work.

This Volume covers many stages of dressmaking—the use of tissue-paper patterns, the designing, the cutting, the making, and the trimming of garments. To design, cut, and construct lovely, wearable garments is an achievement worthy of our best pride, so it behooves us to study and practice and actually learn how to make garments that will do us credit.

WELLS, JANE WARREN. Dress and Look Slender. Large 12mo, cloth ..... net, 2 00

I am 30 pounds overweight, yet no one ever suspects it. I have given up all thought of taking dangerous medicines, wearing annoying appliances, and doing strenuous exercises in an effort to reduce. I am healthy, happy, and comfortable, but I appear 30 pounds lighter than I really am because I have followed scientific principles in planning and selecting clothes that make me look slender. These principles, made so clear that any one can understand and use them, I have set forth in this book.—The Author.

TRANSCENDENTAL MAGIC: ITS DOCTRINE, PRACTICE, AND RITUAL. By ELIPHAS LÉVI. Translated, annotated and introduced by ARTHUR EDWARD WAITE. 9 ins. x 6 ins., ornamental cloth, about 560 pp., with all the original plates and portrait.....net, 7 50

This authoritative and famous work by the founder of modern occultism is generally regarded as indispensable to the study of the theory and practice of magic.

Mr. Waite's translation of Eliphas Lévi's MAGNUM OPUS appeared originally in 1895, has been long out of print, and copies, which are exceedingly scarce, are in continual demand among students and collectors. In the present re-issue the text has been revised throughout and elucidatory notes have been added, the materials being drawn mainly from other expository writings of the French Magus, scarcely any of which are available in English, and some of them at the present day are met with but rarely in France. They are: (1) THE RED BOOK. (2) DICTIONARY OF CHRISTIAN LITERATURE. (3) THE GOSPEL OF FREEDOM. (4) KEY TO THE GREAT MYSTERIES. (5) THE SCIENCE OF SPIRITS. (6) THE BOOK OF THE SAGES. (7) FABLES AND SYMBOLS. (8) THE SORCERER OF MEUDON. (9) PARADOXES OF THE HIGHEST SCIENCE. (10) THE GATES OF THE FUTURE. (11) THE HOLY KINGDOM. (12) THE GREATER KEYS. (13) THE MYSTERIES OF THE KABALAH. (14) LETTERS TO BARON SPEDALIERI.

THE BOOK OF TALISMANS, AMULETS AND ZODIACAL GEMS. By William Thomas and Kate Pavitt. Illustrated with a colored frontispiece and ten full page plates. 292 pages. Octavo, cloth,..net,$4 00

This work is the outcome of many years' study of occultism, ancient and modern, covering a very wide area, beginning with prehistoric talismans, and ranging through Egyptian, Chinese, Japanese, Thibetan, Indian, Etruscan, Greek, Roman, early Christian and mediæval civilizations. The subject is rich in romantic interest and is calculated to make a very wide appeal. The illustrations form an important feature of the book, being drawn from authentic examples by a skilled artist, and reproduced with exceptional care and accuracy.

THE RIDDLE OF THE SPHINX. By J. Munsell Chase. This work explains Unity, Duality, the Trinity and the Quaternity, showing them to be facts in nature; it defines spirit and the Fourth Dimension, showing wherein they consist; defines man's relation to the Zodiac, and makes plain many profound mysteries heretofore left in the dark. This condensed compendium of mystic principles has justly received the unqualified praise of eminent thinkers. One says: "It has solved a hundred doubts for me." What do you know about the Pyramids? What do you know about the Sphinx? What do you know about their builders? Do you know what facts they intended to symbolize by them? If you have not studied them, or do not understand their meaning, READ THIS BOOK. Thirty plates of Symbols. 12mo, cloth,.....net, 1 00

DOLLARS WANT ME. The New Road to Opulence, a Soul Culture Lesson 50

This well conserves the purpose for which it was written. I wish to awaken my fellows to a sense of their present possessions and help them to a realization of the principle which controls Life's expression, so that, Living being to them "a fine art," they will cease to look for happiness in some far-off heaven, but will enter into the enjoyment of the one they create here and now. It is believed that this little monograph is the first utterance of the thought that each individual has the ability to so radiate his mental force that he can cause the dollar to feel him, love him, seek him, and thus draw, at will, all things needed for his unfoldment from the Universal Supply.

"It will help you to rise above the drudgery of enforced labor, and enable you to enter upon the manifold expressions of life with the joy and spontaneity of childhood."—Henry Harrison Brown.

CLARKE, J. J. The Slide Rule. An Elementary Treatise. The author has no apology to make for afflicting the public with another book on the slide rule. He has been approached many times by engineers owning a rule, but practically unable to work it, with a request for an explanation of how to use it in certain cases. This has served to demonstrate that the instructions studied were not understood, and that they were so difficult, meager, or ambiguous that the reader did not have the patience to study them until he had mastered the intricacies of the rule.

To a person who thoroughly understands three or four of the leading principles, the slide rule is a wonderfully simple and easily operated instrument. It is not necessary for him to remember any settings, and he can solve any case with ease and precision. Bearing this in mind the author has endeavored to explain these principles so thoroughly that they cannot be forgotten, and in such a manner that any one with a fair knowledge of arithmetic can readily understand them. The writer hopes that this little book will be of value not only to the beginner but also to those who already have attained a considerable degree of proficiency in the use of the engineer's best friend—the slide rule. HOW TO READ BLUEPRINTS. A Practical Manual for Reading Architects' Blueprints. By William S. Lowndes, Ph.B. Fully illustrated. 8vo, cloth.....net, 2 00

Realizing that there is a positive and widely spread demand for information regarding the art of reading and understanding blueprints, the author has endeavored to meet that demand in the preparation of this volume.

Ambitious carpenters and other building trades mechanics, however well trained in their respective trades, find their progress toward higher positions blocked by their inability to read working drawings or blueprints. These mechanics must take orders, therefore, from a building contractor or a foreman who has studied and acquired the knowledge of how to read blueprints.

This book will also be of use to contractors who are required to make estimates and to erect buildings from blueprints; also to subcontractors in the various trades, to building foremen, to mechanics desiring to become foremen, and to merchants and material men who furnish materials for use in a building.

ROPER'S NEW QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. First Aid to an Engineer or Fireman Undergoing an Examination for the Purpose of Procuring a License. Entirely rewritten and greatly enlarged by Rufus T. Strohm and James D. Purdy. 12mo, leatheroid binding, . . net, $2 00

Because of the increase of pressures used in steam plants and the consequent greater danger through ignorant or careless management, states and municipalities are adopting stringent laws and ordinances to govern the licensing of steam-plant employes. Yet, so far as is known, there is no authoritative and comprehensive statement of the qualifications that should be possessed by licensed stationary engineers. The nature and scope of the questions given by the examining boards are about the only indication of the knowledge that the successful applicant must possess.

Especial care has been taken to refer to the many forms of boiler-room and engine-room devices that form so important a part of the equipment of modern power plants, and with the action and uses of which the alert engineer should be familiar.

The use of the internal combustion engine for the propulsion of vessels has necessitated the addition of a new section relating to the principles of prime mover, with especial emphasis on the marine Diesel engine.

MAGIC.

GOOD, ARTHUR. Magical Experiments, or Science in Play. Illustrated and Explained. A Book for Young and Old. By Arthur Good. A Series of 200 Amusing, Popular, Scientific Experiments Meant for the Recreation of Old and Young. 165 Fine Illustrations.

Square 12mo, gilt back and side, ... $1 50

Many of these are simple pastimes, others possess a really scientific character, while the whole of these experiments may be performed without any special apparatus whatever. To give an idea of the endless variety of the work, we quote a few problems: A Rolling Body Goes Uphill, Foucault's Pendulum, The Egg in Salt Water, How to Make a Banana Peel Itself, Wine Changed to Water, The Plate on the Point of a Needle, How to Pierce a Nickel with a Needle, The Revolving Siphon, The Miniature Steamship, The Bottle Cannon, The Waltzing Egg, The Water Pendulum, In Water but not Wet, The Magic Ball, etc., etc. This entertaining book, written in language that every one can understand, gives the best answer to the so often repeated question, "What shall we do to-night?"

HOFFMANN, PROF. Modern Magic. A Practical Treatise on the Art of Conjuring. By Professor Hoffmann. With 318 Illustrations; 563 pages. With an Appendix containing explanations of many of the best known specialties of Maskelyne and Cooke. A handsome and substantial book; containing 300 tricks. Large 12mo, bound in cloth, . . 2 00

Is a treatise, and a very practical one, on the art of conjuring, in its various and bewildering departments, some of which require special apparatus, most of which require that dexterity known as sleight-of-hand. There are, for example, card tricks which can be played with ordinary cards and without sleight-of-hand, and others again which demand special apparatus. There are coin tricks, tricks with watches, rings, handkerchiefs, dominoes, dice, etc.

The tricks are clearly and comprehensively explained by diagrams and illustrations when necessary. This book will afford an inexhaustible fund of amusement in a family where the young people are fond of games and are quick in acquiring these things. The explanations are given most comprehensively, and cover an immense field; besides, the book is filled with illustrations demonstrating the easiest way to accomplish these feats of legerdemain, magic, etc.

There is a vast difference between telling how a trick is done and teaching how to do it. This is the only book that teaches how to do it.

CHARACTER SKETCHES FROM DICKENS. Compiled with Foreword by B. W. Matz, Editor of the Dickensian. With Introduction by Kate Perugini, Charles Dickens' Daughter. 30 Illustrations in colour by Harold Copping.

Lovers of Dickens, and what thousands there are, will welcome this volume, so beautifully illustrated with 30 full page Colour Plates by the well-known artist Mr. Harold Copping, and compiled by Mr. B. W. Matz the greatest living Authority on Dickens and his works. Mr. Matz has written an interesting introductory preface to each of the works here illustrated and for every picture has selected the appropriate extracts from the novels.

The book is also embellished with two exquisite portraits of the great novelist taken from Engravings by J. C. Armytage, and R. Graves, A.R.A., the latter from a painting by D. Maclise, R.A

The human element in this delightful volume finds sympathetic expression in the introduction which Mrs. Kate Perugini has specially written for this publication. In this, we are led behind the scenes and into the sanctum in which Charles Dickens created his masterpieces.

Quarto. Cloth binding boxed ..... net, $5 00

Edition De Luxe (limited to 1000 copies). Each copy numbered and signed by Mr. Harold Copping, Mr. B. W. Matz, and the Publishers. Leather binding, gilt top, silk register and head band..... net, 15 00

In her interesting introduction, Mrs. Perugini remarks:

"Mr. Copping's ideas are always happy and very often breathe the very spirit of the familiar figures and well remembered scenes they represent. As to the charming way his illustrations are reproduced and given to the public, the book speaks for itself and requires no interpreter. It may not be out of place if I mention here that, in answer to a request lately made, I have just heard from Mr. B. W. Matz, the well-known Editor of The Dickensian, who is more learned, I believe, in artistic and literary matters connected with my father than anyone else I know. He tells me no fewer than sixty artists resident in England and sixteen American artists have illustrated his works, and probably the number is still increasing, so tempting are his subjects to Publisher and Artist alike."

Mr. Matz in his foreword says:

"No English novelist has peopled the world of imaginative literature with such a concourse of real persons as Dickens has, each of whom differs and stands apart from the others, possessing a separate and distinct individuality of his or her own—characters we have come to know so well as to claim them as our own personal friends. Indeed, it may be said with truth that we know the people of Dickens' books more intimately than we do our own friends."

FAMOUS COLONIAL HOUSES. By Paul M. Hollister. Illustrated with twelve full page colored plates in full color by James Preston. With an introduction by Julian Street. Quarto, cloth, boxed.....net,$5 00

"We should all see these houses, or if we cannot see them, we should know them as some of them are made known to us in this book. Our land is a better land for having them within its borders, and we will be better citizens for an acquaintance with them."—Julian Street.

"Not a manual of Colonial architecture, but rather a descriptive record of notable achievements of the period. Such 'show places' as Mount Vernon, Monticello and Doughregan, the seat of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, 'the last of the signers,' are exhibited descriptively and historically. The text embodies biographies of famous owners or dwellers in the historic houses, as well as anecdotes and legends galore. The illustrations by James Preston are in full color. The book is sumptuous in appearance."—Public Ledger.

" 'Famous Colonial Houses,' as a book on American architecture, is a most delightful anthology of anecdote.

"No one can appreciate to the full a Greek temple or a Gothic cathedral without a knowledge of hellenistic philosophy or of mediæval religion, and this volume pictures in words and colors the customs and characteristics for fifty years before and after the Revolution, when the twelve 'colonial' houses enjoyed their days of romance. In place of an essay on the climatic and social influences of America on Georgian architecture, it is a personal narrative of our country's forebears.

"There is no pedantry in Mr. Hollister's treatment of the subject. The architecture is not dissected by the archæologist, the history is not stifled by the chronologist, the legends are not denuded by the iconoclast; instead, the personality of the mansions and of their occupants is presented briefly and gayly. Washington, Jefferson, and Carroll; Madame Jumel, 'Lord' Dexter, and Madame Lalaurie, great and small, are once more alive and human; their homes are no longer museum pieces and their epoch is brought into relation with our own."—The House Beautiful.

AMERICAN BOY'S WORKSHOP, THE. By Clarence B. Kelland. For every boy who succeeded in making something he wanted there are a hundred who failed—and they failed because they didn't know just how to go at it. If they had a hint or a few suggestions as to plan, or a drawing to follow, they would have built their fishpoles or boats or desks. And that is one of the reasons for publishing this book—to give the boy the help he must have to make what he needs.

Fully illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth, . net, $2 00

In the preparation of this book the editor has secured the best men to write the various departments. For instance, "Things for Boys to Make" has been prepared by John L. Dougheny, who edits the "For Boys to Make" column of The American Boy Magazine. The chapter on "Signalling" was written by Lieutenant W. S. Anderson of the United States Navy. The chapter on "Small Furbearers and How to Catch Them" was written by George J. Thiesen, a noted trapper and woodsman. The chapter on the Bow and Arrow is by A. Hyatt Verrill, and so on, making a complete handybook for boys, not by one man, but many men of wide experience, each writing about the subject he knows best.

ROBIN HOOD. By Paul Creswick. Illustrated with plates in full color by N. C. Wyeth ..... net, 3 50

Mr. Wyeth has caught the spirit of this wonderful story that fairly reeks with the spirit of the out-of-doors, sunlight and wind, dark forests and shining meadows. The men that roam this countryside are flesh and blood, faces sun-tanned and roughened, their clothes coarse made and stained and fragrant of wood-smoke and scorched venison! One feels them to be capable of all the deeds, good and bad, attributed to them. We become identified with real people. We sense a contemporary quality in them.

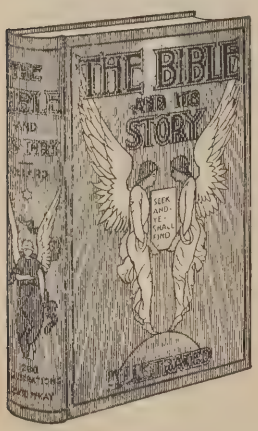
POLLARD, JOSEPHINE. The Bible and Its Story. By Josephine Pollard, author of "The History of the New Testament in Words of One Syllable," "History of the Old Testament," "Battles of America," etc. 12mo, cloth, ... 1 50

The book comprises 576 pages, size 6 x 8 inches. There are 280 illustrations (many of them full-page), of which a complete list is prefixed to the volume. Especial attention is called to the index, which occupies 22 double-column pages, and contains upward of 2000 analytical references to the text. The great fullness of this index will of itself render the volume invaluable to all who believe that a familiar knowledge of the incidents of the Bible cannot be acquired at too early an age.



This volume has been published to assist parents, guardians, and teachers in the religious instruction of those under their charge, by enabling them to place in the hands of children a book which would reverently tell the Biblical story without sectarian bias.

Mrs. Josephine Pollard, the well-known popular writer for children, has put some of her best work into this beautiful book. She has taken the Bible at the first chapter of Genesis and retold the wonderful story step by step to the last chapter of Revelation. It has been to the writer evidently a labor of love. She enlists the reader's interest at once, and holds it to the end. Children will find it as fascinating as a fairy book. It is simplicity itself; yet, with all its simplicity, it is not childish.

JIMMY GOLDCOAST. The Story of a Monkey and His Friends. 12mo, cloth ..... net, $1 50

At last Marshall Saunders has given us another book. Not since "Beautiful Joe" has she herself felt so keenly the spirit of a book as in this latest and most appealing story of a family, told by their pet monkey.

Quite as prominent as "Jimmy Goldcoast" are Nonnie, the beloved darky servant, and Polly, her parrot. These three all play an important part in the rescue from waywardness of a certain young man, who finally becomes a great power for good.

Those who know Miss Saunders' many books, need no reminder of the indefinable charm and fascination of her stories. Insight, tenderness, and humor have never been combined in quite the manner of which she is capable. In the beginning, her books capture the reader, heart and mind, teaching him a hundred things he would otherwise never know, and going on to delight him with pictures so real that he feels certain he must have "passed this way before." That her stories are now read all over the world, literally by the millions, and in almost every language, should be a great gratification to all who have loved her work these many years.

STAPP, EMILIE B. The Go-Hawk Series. Only a few of us really know and understand children. Still fewer have the exquisite human talent of interpreting the childish heart. "Go-Hawks" goes into that small choice class that is about children and is for grown-ups too. Who will derive the more pleasure from these stories—the parents who read them aloud or the children who listen—will be hard to determine.

Each volume illustrated with ten full-page plates and numerous illustrations, handsomely bound in cloth and stamped in gold and colors.

Per volume, ... $1 00

UNCLE PETER-HEATHEN.
THE SQUAW LADY.

VAN LOON, HENDRIK WILLEM, A. B., Ph. D. A Short History of Discovery from the Earliest Times to the Founding of the Colonies. Written and drawn and done in color. This book does not intend to give children all the facts about all the events of the earliest discoveries of Greenland, Iceland, and America. It merely says, "dear children, history is the most fascinating and entertaining and instructive of arts." It tells us of men of great courage and people who knew how to die for their convictions. It shows us how very difficult it is to achieve anything in this world and how we have to work for everything we want to accomplish. About 54 full-page illustrations drawn with a match and colored inks, 8vo, ... net, 3 00

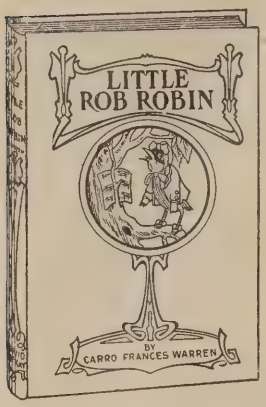
WARREN, CARRO FRANCES. Birdland Fairy Series

LITTLE ROB ROBIN



Every feathered songster that fills the woods with his music and cheerful twitter will be found in "The Birdland Fairy Series," which Miss Warren is bringing out to delight afresh her vast army of childish admirers.

In "Little Rob Robin" every chapter is a glimpse into a world of new delights. Such marvelous characters!—Rob and his sisters, Twitter and Fluffy, Dr. Wren and his amazing prescriptions for sick birds, talkative Miss Pecketty Pewee, funny Mrs. Wagtail, and a host of others equally amusing.

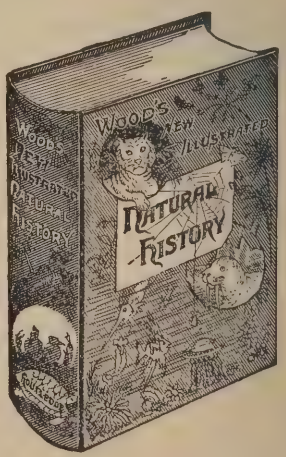
And Birdland is a place where such surprising things happen—the Woodpeckers' Surprise Party, for instance, the mishaps that befell disobedient little Rob, and many other astonishing and amusing things.

LITTLE CHICK CHICKADEE

What little reader can fail to find intense delight in "Little Chick Chickadee"? The visit to the Rabbit family—the clever ruse by which the birds gained admittance—the advent of such wholly charming characters as the Snowflake Sisters, the Nuthatch family, and the villain of the play, Mr. Cunning Crow—these are links in a chain of happenings that hold the reader spellbound by their very originality and freshness.

Each volume illustrated with eight full-page colored plates, artistically bound in cloth with colored inlay in cover. 12mo, gilt top, each . . . net, $1 00

WOOD, REV. J. G., M.A. New Illustrated Natural History. With many Hundred Illustrations from Designs by Wolf, Zwecker, Weir, Coleman, Harvey, and other Artists, engraved by the Brothers Dalziel. Stamped in Gold and Colors. Large 8vo, cloth, $4 00



Wood's "Natural History," with its charming descriptions and delightful anecdotes of all animals, both domestic and wild, is the greatest authority in the land. It gives, minutely and in the simplest language, the habits, haunts, diseases, and peculiarities of the entire animal kingdom. The descriptions of the animals are truthful and interesting. Their portraits, as shown in the hundreds of illustrations, are accurately drawn, and make us realize the variety and beauty of earth's creatures. The life and habits of animals, reptiles, birds, etc., are of equal interest to old and young.

Andrew Jackson

An Epic in Homespun

By GERALD W. JOHNSON

SURELY the most colorful, and in certain ways the most potent, personality that has played an important part in our history is that of Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States. He was a commoner, and there were many in his time who considered him an ignoramus; but the story of his life constitutes an epic—an epic in homespun—of the American frontier.

Mr. Johnson takes into account in this biography the weaknesses of his hero, for a consideration of them is necessary to understand the man; but he does this without forgetting that it was not his weaknesses that made Jackson great. The book is only incidentally a study in American history; and it is not so much a recital of the exploits of the soldier-statesman as a presentation, in an American setting, of the old drama that has delighted audiences of every race since time began—a strong man contending against strong men when an empire was the stake in play.

A Trip Around the World

By E. W. HOWE

ED HOWE, editor of E. W. Howe's Monthly and the Atchison Globe, is one of the most distinctively American figures in our literature. The homely philosophy of The Sage of Potato Hill has won him the affection and trust of friends throughout the United States. "Daily Notes of a Trip Around the World", his famous travel diary, was first published in 1907 and has been long out of print. It is the author's favorite work, and for this new edition he has considerably revised the original version.

The Heritage of Women

By ALICE AMES WINTER

MRS. T. G. WINTER, as president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and as a friend, is known to thousands of women throughout the country. For some years her monthly articles have been eagerly followed by over a million readers. In this book she tells the story of notable women from the beginning of history who have developed gradually the position that women occupy today. In friendly and informal fashion, but based on thorough research, she gives a living picture of the times in which these great women appeared. The story is brought forward to the present day.

The Woman of the Eighteenth Century

By EDMOND and JULES DE GONCOURT

Translation by Jacques Le Clercq and Ralph Roeder

MANY works by the brothers de Goncourt have been translated into English, but by some curious mischance the work on which they made their reputations as social historians has remained untouched. In "The Woman of the Eighteenth Century" they picture the life of the aristocrats, nobles, bourgeoisie, and the lower classes, in the family, in the convents, in love, marriage, and, above all, in society—that brilliant society of the eighteenth century salon. Its effect is to give, on a broad canvas, a vivid picture of all sides of life in eighteenth century France.

Modern American Etchers—Arthur W. Heintzelman

IN this first volume of a series, planned to cover most of the leading American etchers, are twelve reproductions of representative etchings by Arthur W. Heintzelman. This etcher has been rapidly growing in favor with British and French as well as American collectors, and the delicacy and fine sense of characterization which are his outstanding qualities bid fair to bring him an ever widening public. Some of his new Italian plates are included in this volume, which contains an introduction summarizing his life and work. The twelve etchings are reproduced by the new Aquatone process, and a special edition limited to 100 copies, numbered, contains an original etching signed by the artist.

Down the Fairway

The Golf Life and Play of Robert T. Jones, Jr.

By ROBERT T. JONES, JR., and O. B. KEELER

RARELY have autobiographies been written at twenty-five, but rarely has one lived at that age the life of adventure and accomplishment that is Bobby Jones's. He has been called the greatest golfer of all time, and he now holds the two most important championships of the golfing world. No more popular figure has ever dominated any branch of sport; consequently his story is of interest not only to golfers but to the vast public which has followed with interest and enthusiasm his amazing successes. He tells his story with the same modesty that has made him so popular a player.

In Part Two of the book, Mr. Jones explains in full detail how he plays the game. In all its branches, he tells how he overcame difficulties and perfected his style of play. The following chapter titles indicate the scope of his analysis: Putting: A Game Within a Game; The Pitch Shot: A Mystery; Iron Play: I Like It; The Heavy Artillery; Miscellaneous Shots —and Trouble; Tournament Golf. The book is illustrated with over sixty photographs of the champion.

Edition de luxe, limited to 300 numbered copies, signed by the authors, printed on special paper and beautifully bound, $25.00.

Publication July 29th Regular edition, $3.50

From Carrack to Clipper

By FRANK C. BOWEN

OF late years great interest has been shown in old ship models, which are certainly the most fascinating memorials we possess of the romantic days of mast and sail. Most of the books on the subject have been elaborate and costly; this one, though containing 4 color plates and about 70 other full page illustrations, is offered at a moderate price. The author is a well-known English authority on shipping history; he has written this book concisely and without unnecessary technical detail. $5.00

Old English Colour Prints

A BEAUTIFUL collection of old prints, illustrating the manners and modes of a fascinating period. Uniform with "Old French Colour Prints." With nearly a hundred plates, including twenty in colour.

Edition de luxe, $50.00. Regular edition, $25.00

The Gilded Caravan

By ALICE WOODS

AN ever-increasing number of Americans with wealth and time to spare have sought the pleasure places of Europe and diligently wasted their youth in emptiness. Mrs. Woods, in a witty and brilliantly satirical novel, chronicles the lives of Henry and Janet Fabris, typical representatives of this class, and of their daughter Rosette, who is clear-thinking and rebellious against the shoddy glitter of their background. In the gallery of portraits are Barrey, an English writer, who has seen a side of Henry that the world did not know, a successful young American novelist, Rosette's Lochinvar, and many exotic off-shoots of a parasitic society.

Having lived for some years on the Riviera, Mrs. Woods has had an opportunity to observe at first hand—an opportunity of which she has made rich use. Her clever short novel, "The Hairpin Duchess," published in 1924, indicated her gift for shrewd satire; more ambitiously in this novel she brings her clear eye and ready pen to deal with a situation new to American fiction.

Blind Corner

By DORNFORD YATES

MOTORING back to England from a holiday at Biarritz, Richard William Chandos while resting by the roadside overhears an altercation in the woods behind him. Curious, he conceals himself in time to see one man murder another. He rushes to the dying man, who gives him directions that lead to his search, with two companions, for the great treasure of Wagensburg. They run afoul of the murderer, also treasure-bent, with a gang of crooks under an extraordinary character, "Rose" Noble, and are plunged into a series of events that come near to costing them their lives, but that almost satisfy their craving for adventure.

In this novel, Dornford Yates, whose "Jonah & Co." has had a considerable success, turns his hand to a quite different type of story, a tale of murder and mystery and romance that is breath-taking from the first page to the last.

Publication July 29th $2.00

Jonah & Co.

By DORNFORD YATES

"A GAY, sunshiny sort of yarn of the adventures and misadventures of six young English folk in the South of France. . . a thoroughly agreeable novel."—Herchel Brickell in the New York Evening Post. $2.00

Little Sins

By KATHARINE BRUSH

WITH the publication last year of a first novel "Glitter," it was at once apparent that a new and brilliant American novelist had arrived. Katharine Brush has absorbed in amazing fashion the spirit and gaiety of modern youth, yet she has been able to stand aside and view, with sympathy and comprehension, its sometimes strange vagaries. In "Little Sins" she tells the story of Gay Leonard and Dolly Quinn, two girls widely separated in their beginnings but strangely concerned in each other's destiny. Miss Brush gives an excellent picture of many phases of New York life, and the story as it unfolds is an engrossing narrative of young people today.

Publication August 19th $2.00

The Minton, Balch Library of Illustrated Classics

Swiss Family Robinson

By JOHANN DAVID WYSS

THE most popular of all classics for young readers was translated into English at a time when juvenile literature was almost without exception moralistic and priggish in manner, and the translation bore unmistakable evidences of this influence. In this edition the text of the translation is considerably revised, but unabridged, and the story emerges as the vigorous adventurous tale it was intended to be. Arnold Hall has illustrated the volume with sixteen full page drawings in color. It is uniform in size and binding with the other titles in the series.

The Pale Mountains

Folk Tales from the Dolomites
By CARL FELIX WOLFF

THESE legends of the Dolomite Mountains, handed down from generation to generation for centuries, have much in common with fairy tales; but they are bound inseparably with the history and environment of the people who created them. Their descendants still live among the green meadows and the barren peaks of the Dolomites, the last remnants of an almost forgotten people, the Rhaeto-Romans, or, as they call themselves, the Ladini. The translation, by Francesca La Monte, has the simplicity and beauty necessary to bring out the freshness and unique quality of the stories. The book includes eight illustrations in color by Anne Merriman Peck, who has spent many months in the Dolomites and was therefore able to give them precisely the right spirit.
Publication August 19th $2.50

The Thrings of the Dark Mountain

By MORGAN TAYLOR

"THE stories are all deliciously whimsical, not only in their general conception, but in their details, and there is much humor—usually quite applicable to human affairs and the people of real life—that will be relished by adults."—The New York Times. New edition, illustrated, $1.00

Everything and Anything

By DOROTHY ALDIS

Drawings by Helen D. Jameson

They seem to have sprung up spontaneously out of a happy American childhood and an intimate, informed and sustained relationship with real children living anywhere."

The Mad Lover

By RICHARD CONNELL

"A DASHING Irish tale of a handsome, worthless, rich young man. A fine, improbable story."—The Independent.

What the Modern Library has done and is doing for Intelligent Readers

The Modern Library, over a period of seven years, has gathered together the finest works of the greatest modern authors, and made them available for that vast army of booklovers who either could not or would not pay more than a dollar for a book. Yet despite their low price, Modern Library books are as well made as volumes that sell for three and four times as much. They are printed on high grade paper from large, clear type, and are hand bound in full limp style. The texts are complete, unabridged, and authorized. The introductions are written by authorities. And a glance at the list of authors and titles tells all that any intelligent person needs to be told about the quality of reading in the Modern Library

The Modern Library
now contains 142 volumes
& new ones are added each month
It is today the biggest selling series of its kind in the world

THE CANONICAL MARRIAGE REGISTER

Prepared in accordance with the present canon. As the Marriage Register must frequently be carried to the place of marriage, it is more convenient to have it separate from the Parish Register, for which purpose the Marriage entries are included only in the two smaller sizes of the Canonical Parish Register. This Marriage Register is therefore required in connection with Editions B and C of the former.

Half leather, 7.00. Carriage additional.

[N. B.—Marriage Register AA matches Parish Register AA in size, but is not required for that edition. It is made in this form (half the standard size of page) for those who prefer a small, and therefore light weight, book for use with the larger Parish Registers; but the average ratio of entries will necessitate two or three volumes of this edition during the probable lifetime of Parish Register B.]

B. No. 6.—Good Friday. Printed in black with purple cross. Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by? We are all fond of keeping anniversaries. *GEORGE WASHINGTON—THE REBEL AND THE PATRIOT—1763-1783

George Washington, at thirty a contented farmer disgusted with war, grows into a reluctant rebel, is forced to command untrained, unwilling soldiers, and with them, in face of every kind of opposition, wins freedom for his country. An amazingly dramatic story, as Rupert Hughes tells it, revealing a vast amount of information to be found in no other Washington biography.

*NAVIGATOR—THE STORY OF NATHANIEL BOWDITCH OF SALEM

The Golden Age of the American clipper ship would never have been without Nathaniel Bowditch. NAVIGATOR is the story of his life, reaching a climax in his triumphant return from Java on the Putnam, which proved the truth of his nautical calculations and formed the basis for the first exact laws of navigation. This book is the first to present the glamorous legends surrounding Bowditch in relation to the facts so as to give a true picture of the man and his times.

George Washington

The Rebel and the Patriot 1763-1783

By RUPERT HUGHES

In the second volume of Mr. Hughes' biography of George Washington he differs fundamentally with other historians as to Washington, the leader. In a thorough study of all the existing records, new and old, Mr. Hughes has discovered and authenticated many new facts about Washington's life to be found in no biography extant. Mr. Hughes believes that Washington was the outstanding unselfish patriot of the Revolution. In this illuminating study he shows the splendid growth of Washington—his heroic conception of his country's freedom and how he realized that dream of independent America against tremendous obstacles that would have daunted any but his unquenchable spirit.

The Story of Nathaniel Bowditch of Salem

By ALFRED STANFORD

In this book an imaginative faculty of rare perception has played upon a unique personality. The result is an extraordinary study of a little-known American genius—Nathaniel Bowditch, whose work made possible the triumph of American merchantmen in the coming era of the clipper ship.

In a picturesque setting of 18th Century Salem, Alfred Stanford has re-created the life and surroundings of a great American.

Jacket in 4 colors, and frontispiece. 5½x8⅛. $2.50 Net.

The Builders of America

By ELLSWORTH HUNTINGTON of Yale University, and LEON F. WHITNEY

The birthrate of different types of Americans is to-day an acute national problem. This book breaks new ground for discussion of a most vital question.

The builder type of all nationalities has always contributed to the progress of the country: as pioneers, teachers, statesmen, scientists, inventors—leaders in all fields of truly constructive work. Is the builder type dying out in America?

The unique value of this book is that it considers a many-sided problem from a point of view which could only have been achieved by the collaboration of two authors: one a student of the laws of heredity, the other an environist.

Religious Liberty

The Great American Illusion

By ALBERT C. DIEFFENBACH

A fearless attack on religious intolerance by the man who stirred up the issue of Fundamentalism among the conservative evangelical churchmen who are taking control more and more not only of religious teaching and worship in America, but are dictating the program of the scientific education of the public. The author challenges not only denominations but individuals in his frank study of the lawless bigotry which he sees enveloping us in spite of the safeguards which our forefathers believed they were providing in the Constitution.

What Is the Combination Bible?

THERE have been two noteworthy translations of the Holy Bible—the Authorized or King James' Version published in 1611, and the Revision of this version completed in 1885. The King James' Version which we are accustomed to hear read in church is by far the more poetical of the two. The Revision is, in the judgment of the most critical scholars, pre-eminent for its accurate representation of the original Hebrew and Greek.

For teachers and students of the Bible who wish to obtain the full significance of Biblical Teaching, some means of comparing these two versions is indispensable. Parallel column Bibles containing the King James' text in one column and the Revision in the other have been published, but these Bibles, besides being twice the size of a regular Bible, require that one read both versions in order to see if any differences occur.

The Combination Bible, without any increase in the size of the book or any decrease in the size of the type, makes a comparison of the two versions as simple as though one had a copy of both versions with differences marked in red. The Combination Bible contains the regular King James' text—self-pronouncing—printed in large type and with complete marginal references the same as any standard King James' Bible. Added to this, however, is the unique Combination feature—a series of concise footnotes which show at a glance all places wherein the Revised Version differs from the Authorized Version. To indicate just where these differences occur, two symbols appear in the text:

RV before a word or passage in the text indicates a change in the Revision, which change is shown in the corresponding footnote below.

RO before a word or passage in the text indicates that the words inclosed in the parentheses in the corresponding footnote are omitted in the Revised Version.

The numbers of the verses in the footnotes correspond to the numbers of the verses in the text in which the changes occur. Thus we have gained an ease and rapidity of comparison which cannot be equalled either by a parallel Bible or marked copies of the two Versions. All students of the Bible agree that as a commentary on the Bible the Combination feature is unsurpassed.

The late Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell once said of the Combination Bible, "There is a great indisposition to give up the former translation of the Bible because of the great convenience of its verification; and yet all would like to know where the new translation differs from the old in making the truth clearer. The Combination edition of the Bible seems to furnish just what the people want in that respect."

QUALITY

WITH the advent of modern business competition come added difficulties for the purchaser. "Genuine" disappears from the sales' talk, and in its place we find "better or just as good as the genuine." And it is very true that an article made up of substitutes may look "better or just as good as the genuine" when it is new. The test of quality is its durability.

With a belief that the majority of intelligent people appreciate permanent excellence and durability rather than temporary glitter, we are issuing this special catalogue, which we believe contains lasting values.

We guarantee that every Bible here described completely fulfils its description, and in no instance is there any attempt to conceal the non-genuine by a confusion of terms.

The Bible is the world's most genuine and most lasting book. By a selection of materials and care in workmanship it is our aim to make the quality and excellence of binding conform to the genuineness and durability of the text.

ing, 5 Go, and say to Hezekiah, Thus saith Jehovah, the God of David thy father, I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears: behold, I will add unto thy days fifteen years. 6 And I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria; and I will defend this city. 7 And this shall be the sign unto thee from Jehovah, that Jehovah will do this thing that he hath spoken: 8 behold, I will cause the shadow on the steps, which is gone down on the [1]dial of Ahaz [2]with the sun, to return backward ten steps. So the sun returned ten steps [3]on the dial whereon it was gone down.

9 The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick, and was recovered of his sickness.

10 I said, In the [4]noontide of my days I shall go into the gates of Sheol:
I am deprived of the residue of my years.
11 I said, I shall not see [5]Jehovah, even [5]Jehovah in the land of the living:
I shall behold man no more [6]with the inhabitants of the world.
12 My dwelling is removed, and is carried away from me as a shepherd's tent:
I have rolled up, like a weaver, my life; he will cut me off from the [7]loom:
[10]Wherefore recover thou me, and make me to live.
17 Behold, it was for my peace that I had great bitterness:
But [11]thou hast in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of [12]corruption;
For thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back.
18 For Sheol cannot praise thee, death cannot celebrate thee:
They that go down into the pit cannot hope for thy truth.
19 The living, the living, he shall praise thee, as I do this day:
The father to the children shall make known thy truth.
20 Jehovah is ready to save me:
Therefore we will sing my songs with stringed instruments
All the days of our life in the house of Jehovah.
21 Now Isaiah had said, Let them take a cake of figs, and lay it for a plaster upon the boil, and he shall recover. 22 Hezekiah also had said, What is the sign that I shall go up to the house of Jehovah?

39 At that time Merodach-baladan the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah; for he heard that he had been sick, and was recovered. 2 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and showed them the house of his [13]precious things, the silver, and the gold,

9 Then said he unto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceeding great, and the land is full of blood, and the city full of [1] wresting of judgment: for they say, Jehovah hath forsaken the land, and Jehovah seeth not. 10 And as for me also, mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity, but I will bring their way upon their head. 11 And, behold, the man clothed in linen, who had the inkbim the form of a man's hand under their wings.

9 And I looked, and behold, four wheels beside the cherubim, one wheel beside one cherub, and another wheel beside another cherub; and the appearance of the wheels was like unto a [4] beryl stone. 10 And as for their appearance, they four had one likeness, as if a wheel had been [5] within a wheel. 11 When they went, they went [6] in their four ŏn, who stood in the way, as they came forth from Phā'raōh: 21 and they said unto them, Jĕ-hō'văh look upon you, and judge; because ye have made our savor to be abhorred in the eyes of Phā'raōh, and in the eyes of his servants, to put a sword in their hand to slay us.

22 And Mō'sĕs returned unto Jĕ-hō'văh, and said, Lord, wherefore hast thou dealt ill with this people? why is it that thou hast sent me? 23 For since I came to Phā'raōh to speak in thy name, he hath dealt ill with this people; neither hast thou delivered thy

6 people at all. 1 And Jĕ-hō'văh said unto Mō'sĕs, Now shalt thou see what I will do to Phā'raōh: for by a strong hand shall he let them go, and by a strong hand shall he drive them out of his land.

2 And God spake unto Mō'sĕs, and said unto him, I am Jĕ-hō'văh: 3 and I appeared unto Abraham, unto Ī'săac, and unto Jacob, as [1]God Almighty; but [2]by my name Jĕ-hō'văh I was not [3]known to them. 4 And I have also established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Cā'năan, the land of their sojournings, wherein they sojourned. 5 And moreover I have heard the groaning of the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl, whom the Ē-gўp'tiăns keep in bondage; and I have remembered my covenant. 6 Wherefore say unto the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl, I am Jĕ-hō'văh, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Ē-gўp'tiăns, and I will rid you out of their bondage, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm, and with great judgments: 7 and I will take you to me for a people, and I will be to you a God; and ye shall know that I am Jĕ-hō'văh your God, who bringeth you out from under the burdens of the Ē-gўp'tiăns. 8 And I will bring you in unto the land which I [4]sware to give to Abraham, to Ī'săac, and to Jacob; and I will give it you for a heritage: I am Jĕ-hō'văh. 9 And Mō'sĕs spake so unto the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl: but they hearkened not unto Mō'sĕs for [5]anguish of spirit, and for cruel bondage.

10 And Jĕ-hō'văh spake unto Mō'sĕs, saying, 11 Go in, speak unto Phā'raōh king of Ē'gўpt, that he let the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl go out of his land. 12 And Mō'sĕs spake before Jĕ-hō'văh, saying, Behold, the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl have not hearkened unto me; how then shall Phā'raōh hear me, who am of uncircumcised lips? 13 And Jĕ-hō'văh spake unto Mō'sĕs and unto Aăr'ŏn, and gave them a charge unto the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl, and unto Phā'raōh king of Ē'gўpt, to bring the children of Ĭs'rā-ĕl out of the land of Ē'gўpt.

14 These are the heads of their fathers' houses. BIBLE FOR MINISTERS' NOTES

LONG PRIMER 4to (as above). Printed on Fine White Paper.

Size, 6½ x 8¾ inches.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office
That Little Bar and Nut Has Solved the Problem!

We have many calls from ministers for a Bible in which they can make notes. A wide margin on a Bible makes a large book and does not give enough room for notes. On the other hand, interleaving a Bible more than doubles its thickness, and puts in leaves where they are not wanted. We have applied our Loose-Leaf Encyclopaedia Binder to a Bible, which will enable the Minister to put in a sermon, or his notes, whenever required all through the Bible. Nelson's Patent Loose-Leaf Binder makes the volume look just like any other Bible, and is so simple that anyone can insert, change or remove a page or pages in a moment. Additional blank pages can be secured at any time at nominal cost.

CHEMOSH [chē'mŏsh], the god of the Moabites. [See MOABITE STONE.]

CHERUB [chĕr'ŭb] (plural CHERUBIM), a symbolical winged creature with a human face, associated in Scripture with the throne or chariot of Jehovah (Ps. 18. 10; 80. 1; 99. 1). In Gen. 3. 24 cherubim appear as the guardians of the approach to the tree of life. Two cherubim were placed on the mercy-seat or covering of the ark of the covenant in the Tabernacle and in the Temple, and figures representing cherubim were wrought into the hangings of the Holy of Holies. In Ezekiel's description (ch. 1 and 10; 41. 18, 19) they have a human body, with a head presenting the faces of a man, a lion, an ox, and an eagle, four hands, and four wings; the whole body of the cherubim and the wheels of the chariot being furnished with innumerable eyes. In Revelation the four faces of the cherubim are distributed among the four "living creatures" that surround the throne of God. [See GOSPELS.]

(e. g. Num. 24. 24).

CHRIST [chrīst] JESUS [jē'sus]. [See LIFE OF JESUS, pages 53-67; His Life and Works, see Concordance, under CHRIST; His Names, Titles, and Offices, see Concordance, under JESUS.]

CHRONICLES [chrŏn'ĭ-cles], THE FIRST AND SECOND BOOKS OF THE, are in the third part of the Jewish Canon, where they form one book, named "Words (or "Acts") of Days," i. e. minutes of events, lists of names, and the like. In the LXX. they are divided into two books, entitled Paraleipomĕna, "things omitted" or "passed over." Their Latin title from the time of Jerome has been Chronica, "Chronicles." The priestly tone of the writer, and his preoccupation with the fortunes of the house of David and the kingdom of Judah, are marked features of the work, which runs parallel to the older history (Books of Samuel and Kings), and is mainly drawn from the same sources.

Illustrations

Combined Concordance or Word-Finder

MATTHEW 4. 13 Jesus retires to Galilee. Jesus calls the Four that John was delivered up, he withdrew into Gal'i-lee; 13 and leaving Naz'a-reth, he came and dwelt in Ca-per'na-um, which is by the sea, in the borders of Zeb'u-lun and Naph'ta-li: 14 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through I-sa'iah the prophet, saying,

15 [1] The land of Zeb'u-lun and the land of Naph'ta-li,
[2] Toward the sea, be yond the Jor'dan,
Gal'i-lee of the [3]Gen'-tiles,
16 The people that sat in darkness
Saw a great light,
And to them that sat in the region and shadow of death,
To them did light spring up.

17 From that time be-gan Je'sus to preach, and to say, Repent ye; for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

18 And walking by the sea of Gal'i-lee, he saw two brethren, Si'-mon who is called Pe'-ter, and An'drew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. 19 And he saith unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you fishers of men. 20 And they straightway left the nets, and followed him. 21 And going on from thence he saw two other brethren, [4] James the son of Zeb'e-dee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zeb'e-dee their father, mending their nets; and he called them. 22 And they straightway left the boat and their father, and followed him.

23 And [5] Je'sus went about in all Gal'i-lee, teaching in their syna-gogues, and preaching the [6] gospel of the king-dom, and healing all manner of disease and all manner of sickness among the people. 24 And the report of him went forth into all Syr'-i-a: and they brought unto him all that were sick, holden with divers diseases and torments, [7] possessed with demons, and epileptic, and pal-sied; and he healed them. 25 And there fol-lowed him great multi-tudes from Gal'i-lee and De-cap'o-lis and Je-ru'-sa-lem and Ju-dæ'a and from beyond the Jor'-dan.

5 And seeing the multitudes, he went up into the mountain: and when he had sat down, his disciples came unto him: 2 and he opened his mouth and taught them, saying,

3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

12. Was delivered up. See ch. 14.3–5. Withdrew into Galilee. Jesus left Judæa most probably on account of the hatred of the Pharisees and began his ministry in Galilee. It is not known how long his Judæan ministry lasted. A few authorities say about a month, but most of them eight months. His way led phrase as spoken by our Lord has its deepest spiritual meaning from his own life and teaching. Its use in the Old Testament and by John the Baptist is merged in its final and personal application by Jesus to the individual: 'The kingdom of heaven is within you.'

A NEW NELSON EDITION of the King James Version of THE BIBLE

A Page from this Bible

13 And Ā'brā-hăm lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Ā'brā-hăm went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son.

14 And Ā'brā-hăm called the name of that place Jē-hō'vah-jī'reh: as it is said to this day, In the mount of the LORD it shall be seen.

15 ¶ And the angel of the LORD called unto Ā'brā-hăm out of heaven the second time.

16 And said, By myself have I sworn, saith the LORD, for because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only son:

17 That in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies;

18 And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice.

19 So Ā'brā-hăm returned unto his young men, and they rose up and went together to Bē'er-shē'bà; and Ā'brā-hăm dwelt at Bē'er-shē'bà.

20 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that it was told Ā'brā-hăm, saying, Behold, Mĭl'cah, she hath also born children unto thy brother Nā'hôr;

21 Hūz his firstborn, and Būz his brother, and Kē-mū'el the father of Ā'ram, 22 And Chē'sed, and Hā'zō, and Pĭl'dăsh, and Jĭd'laph, and Bĕth-u'el.

23 And Bĕth-u'el begat Rē-bĕk'ah: these eight Mĭl'cah did bear to Nā'hôr, Ā'brā-hăm's brother.

24 And his concubine, whose name was Reu'mah, she bare also Tē'bah, and Gā'hăm, and Thā'hăsh, and Mā'a-chah.

23 CHAPTER 23

AND Sā'rah was an hundred and seven and twenty years old: these were the years of the life of Sā'rah.

2 And Sā'rah died in Kĭr'jath-är'bà; the same is Hē'bron in the land of Cā'năan: and Ā'brā-hăm came to mourn for Sā'rah and to weep for her.

3 ¶ And Ā'brā-hăm stood up from before his dead, and spake unto the sons of Hĕth, saying,

4 I am a stranger and a sojourner with you: give me a possession of a buryingplace with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.

5 And the children of Hĕth answered Ā'brā-hăm, saying unto him,

6 Hear us, my lord: thou art a mighty prince among us: in the choice of our sepulchres bury thy dead; none of us shall withhold from thee his sepulchre, but that thou mayest bury thy dead.

7 And Ā'brā-hăm stood up, and bowed himself to the people of the land, even to the children of Hĕth.

8 And he communed with them, saying, If it be your mind that I should bury my dead out of my sight; hear me, and intreat for me to Ē'phron the son of Zō'hăr,

9 That he may give me the cave of Măch-pē'lah, which he hath, which is in the end of his field; for as much money as it is worth he shall give it me for a possession of a buryingplace amongst you.

10 And Ē'phron dwelt among the children of Hĕth: and Ē'phron the Hĭt'tite answered Ā'brā-hăm in the audience of the children of Hĕth, even of all that went in at the gate of his city, saying,

11 Nay, my lord, hear me: the field give I thee, and the cave that is therein, I give it thee; in the presence of the sons of my people give I it thee: bury thy dead.

12 And Ā'brā-hăm bowed down himself before the people of the land.

13 And he spake unto Ē'phron in the audience of the people of the land, saying, But if thou wilt give it, I pray thee, hear me: I will give thee money for the field; take it of me, and I will bury my dead there.

14 And Ē'phron answered Ā'brā-hăm, saying unto him,

15 My lord, hearken unto me: the land is worth four hundred shekels of silver; what is that betwixt me and thee? bury therefore thy dead.

16 And Ā'brā-hăm hearkened unto Ē'phron; and Ā'brā-hăm weighed to Ē'phron the silver, which he had named in the audience of the sons of Hĕth, four hundred shekels of silver, current money with the merchant.

17 ¶ And the field of Ē'phron, which was in Măch-pē'lah, which was before Măm'rē, the field, and the cave which was therein, and all the trees that were in the field, that were in all the borders round about, were made sure.

18 Unto Ā'brā-hăm for a possession in the presence of the children of Hĕth, before all that went in at the gate of his city.

19 And after this, Ā'brā-hăm buried Sā'rah his wife in the cave of the field of Măch-pē'lah before Măm'rē: the same is Hē'bron in the land of Cā'năan.

5 And they said unto him, In Bĕth'-lĕ-hĕm of Jū-dæ'ȧ: for thus it is written by the prophet,

6 And thou Bĕth'lĕ-hĕm, in the land of Jū'dȧ, art not the least among the princes of Jū'dȧ: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Ĭs'ra-el.

7 Then Hĕr'od, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

8 And he sent them to Bĕth'lĕ-hĕm, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

9 When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

10 When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

11 ¶ And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mā'rў his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

12 And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Hĕr'od, they departed into their own country another way.

13 And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Jō'sĕph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Ē'gўpt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Hĕr'od will seek the young child to destroy him.

14 When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Ē'gўpt:

15 And was there until the death of Hĕr'od: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Ē'gўpt have I called my son.

16 ¶ Then Hĕr'od, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bĕth'lĕ-hĕm, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently enquired of the wise men.

17 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jĕr'e-mў the prophet, saying,

18 In Rā'mȧ was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Rā'chel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not.

19 ¶ But when Hĕr'od was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Jō'sĕph in Ē'gўpt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Ĭs'ra-el: for they are dead which sought the young child's life.

21 And he arose, and took the young child and his mother, and came into the land of Ĭs'ra-el.

22 But when he heard that Ăr-chĕ-lā'us did reign in Jū-dæ'ȧ in the room of his father Hĕr'od, he was afraid to go thither: notwithstanding, being warned of God in a dream, he turned aside into the parts of Găl'ĭ-lee:

23 And he came and dwelt in a city called Năz'a-rĕth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets, He shall be called a Năz-a-rēne'.

CHAPTER 3.

1 John's preachings and baptisms. 13 He baptizes Christ in Jordan.

IN those days came Jŏhn the Băp'-tĭst, preaching in the wilderness of Jū-dæ'ȧ,

2 And saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

3 For this is he that was spoken of by the prophet Ē-sā'ĭas, saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 And the same Jŏhn had his raiment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins; and his meat was locusts and wild honey.

5 Then went out to him Jĕ-rų'sȧ-lĕm, and all Jū-dæ'ȧ, and all the region round about Jôr'dan,

6 And were baptized of him in Jôr'dan, confessing their sins.

7 ¶ But when he saw many of the Phăr'ĭ-sees and Săd'du-çees come to his baptism, he said unto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance:

9 And think not to say within yourselves, We have Ă'brȧ-hăm to our father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Ă'brȧ-hăm.

10 And now also the ax is laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire.
